MANY INJURED IN EXPLOSION AT OIL PLANT

Damage to Cost Standard Oil Company Over Two Millions.

Whiting, Ind., April 14.—Five men are missing and twenty injured in three explosions in the plant of the Standard Oil company here today. First estimates placed the damage at more than $2,500,000.

The explosion occurred in a battery of tube stills used for the distillation of gasoline. The cause has not been determined.

Fire apparatus from Whiting, Hammond, East Chicago, Indiana Harbor and other towns, together with ambulances, were rushed to the scene. Firemen are searching the debris for the missing.

HIGH WATER IS CAUSE OF FEAR IN MIDDLE WEST

Flood Conditions Still Menace Sections On Friday

DIKES ARE GONE

Illinois Suffers From Heavy Rains—Many Homeless.

Chicago, April 14.—Flood conditions throughout the middle west showed little improvement today, according to reports reaching here from flooded areas.

At Beardstown the Illinois river has washed out restraining dikes and stretches from "Bluff to Bluff" eighteen miles wide. Rail service has been suspended on the St. Louis division of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and service on the Baltimore and Ohio to Springfield was discontinued today. Only about ten blocks of the city of Beardstown are above water. Practically all business is being transacted by boats.

At Carroltown, Ill., fifty farmers, tenants of the Fairbanks valley ranch have been driven from their homes and have lost everything. The Illinois river here is two and one-half miles out of its channel and the Fairbanks valley section is under nine feet of water.

Between Lewistown and West Havana, Ill., near Galesburg, the Burlington railroad tracks have been inundated and train service abandoned.

SEEK TO PERMIT USE OF SHINGLES WITHIN THE CITY

Lumber dealers and wood shingle men hope to win a victory in this city in the introduction of an ordinance for first reading at the city commission Thursday to modify the building code to make wood shingles permissible within the corporate limits outside of the fire zone.

The building code put in effect the first of the year eliminated the use of wood shingles for any purpose within the corporation lines of the city, making it necessary to use the other so-called fire-proof type of roof coverings.

The ordinance introduced without comment Thursday night and placed on its reading, seeks to modify section 16 of the code, regarding the use of roofing materials. The modification of the section will mean that shingles can be used any place outside of the fire zone district represented by the boundaries formed by Church street, Third street, Collier street and Galloway street.

The ordinance will be voted upon at the next regular meeting of the commission.

PROVIDE FUND FOR STREET CLEANING

An ordinance to provide a $6,000 fund to take care of street cleaning and sprinkling this summer was placed on its first reading at the city commission meeting Thursday evening.

The ordinance represents the annual appropriation ordinance to carry on this work, and in all probability will pass without question at the next regular meeting of the commission.

An ordinance introduced by H. L. Smith, president of the commission, and placed on its first reading, proves a fine of not less than $5 or more than $50 for blowing locomotive whistles within the corporation line, except on the Pennsylvania lines, east of the Wilmington crossing and south of the Cincinnati avenue crossing and on the Baltimore & Ohio lines, southeast of Washington street and north of Market street.

THREE BATH TOWNSHIP SCHOOL STUDENTS ARE INSTANTLY KILLED WHEN TRACTION STRIKES AUTO

FIVE DROWNED AS BOAT SINKS DURING STORM

Washington, April 14.—One woman, her daughter and three sons were drowned today when the schooner S. C. Kendie capsized in a storm and sank in the Potomac river below Alexandria, Va., this morning. The dead are:

Mrs. Gertrude Lawrence, 45, wife of Captain William Lawrence of New Alexandria, Va., the captain of the vessel.

Lillian Lawrence, 16, a daughter.

The sons, Archie, 14; Alvin 10 and Merle 7. All were in the cabin of the schooner when it sunk.

SEEK PERMANENT COURT INJUNCTION

Charleston, W. Va., April 14.—With the next court session set for next Monday, when coal operators of the Winding Gulf field will seek to have made permanent the federal injunction granted here last Saturday night closing that field to organizing activities of the United Mine workers the strike situation in West Virginia remained in statu quo today.

No fresh outbreaks were reported from the New River field where Tuesday night one non union miner was shot and wounded and the home of another destroyed by dynamite. Five men are held in connection with the shooting, but thus far no arrests have been made on the dynamiting charge. A total of 268 cars was loaded yesterday in the New River field, which is a slight gain over the previous day. The chief difficulty at present is the lack of a market operators say.

ARBUCKLE FILMS IN OHIO TALKED

Columbus, April 14.—Question of whether "Fatty" Arbuckle films should be shown again in Ohio is one of the first to be put to the film censorship advisory board at its initial meeting today.

Arbuckle pictures have not been shown in Ohio since his indictment for murder, of which he was acquitted.

Attorney General Price ruled yesterday the director of education, under the law, has full authority over films, while the duties of the advisory board are to "advise, aid, counsel and inform."

"The director may give such weight to the advice of such board as in his opinion the facts warrant," Price said. "He may regard the judgment of the chief of the division advisory board, or he may regard the advice superior to that of the advisory board of the advisory board as being supreme."

SCIENCE GIVES THE WORLD MUCH OVER OLD TIMES

On the whole, it is astonishing, when we give it considerable thought, how much science and inventive genius have done to improve the lot of us all as compared with our forefathers.

And how little, at times, we appreciate our advantages.

Unlike the Cave man of prehistoric times, who read the tracks of the game he hunted—noticed the broken twigs or twisted leaves and read the meaning—the advertising science has today given us laws and rules which, if correctly followed will make our advertising more readily and more easily understood—and, the efforts need not be half so laborious as was necessary with our prehistoric forebears.

Thanks to science and research our advertising now can be very effective.

SMALL HURRICANE HITS ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, April 14.—A squall of hurricane intensity that blew up out of the southwest almost without warning held sway over the city for five minutes this morning. Dozens of plate glass windows were broken in the downtown districts.

The squall was accompanied by a murky cloud that entirely shut out daylight, while rain fell in solid sheets. For five minutes inky darkness prevailed. Automobiles and street cars ran with their headlights on and office buildings were ablaze with light.

Three students of Bath Township Centralized High School, were instantly killed when the Ford machine in which they were riding, returning to their homes in Fairfield was struck by an Ohio Electric car, limited, from Dayton to Springfield, Friday afternoon, at 2:20 o'clock.

They were, Marjorie Snediker, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snediker of Fairfield, Lucille Fisher, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher, of Fairfield, and Daniel Lang, Jr., 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lang. of Fairfield. All were students in the freshman class at the Bath township High School.

The crossing where the machine was struck is known as the New Osborn crossing. The young people were returning home, when the accident happened. All were instantly killed.

The accident is thought to have happened because the occupants of the machine did not see the approaching car, during the rain.

COMMISSION PASSES DAYLIGHT SAVING ORDINANCE FOR XENIA

Clocks of City Will Be Advanced One Hour May 13, Following Passage of Proposal by Majority Vote On Thursday Evening.

Xenia clocks will be speeded up one hour faster than at present, May 13, at two o'clock in the morning.

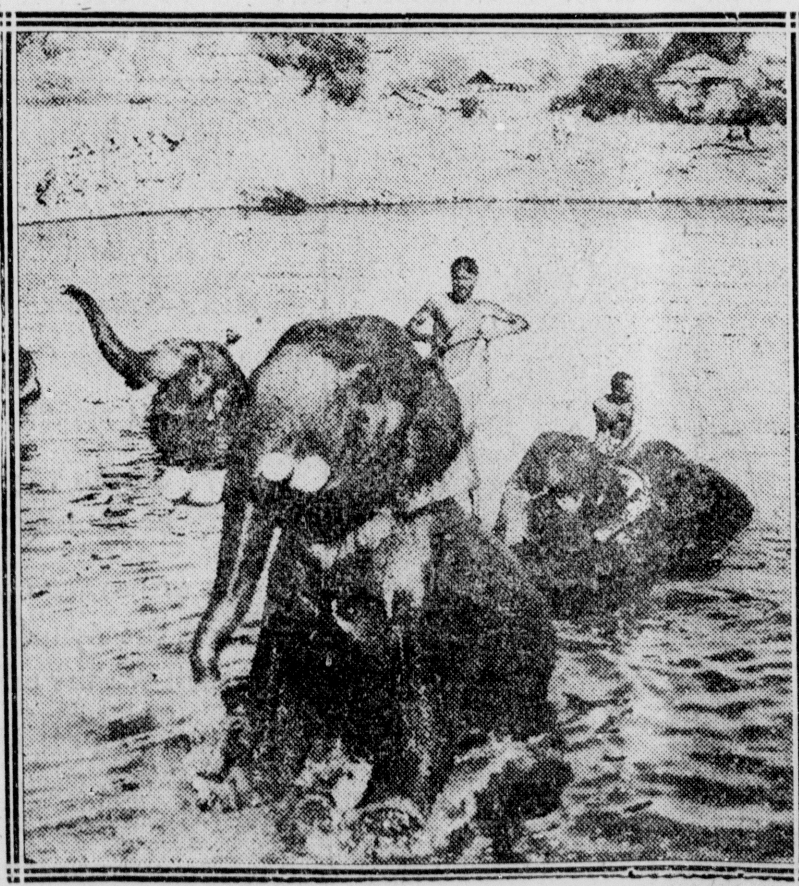

The city commission in session Thursday night passed an ordinance providing daylight saving time for Xenia during the summer months, and taking effect 30 days from the date of passage.

The ordinance was passed by a vote of three to two, the commission standing divided as it had been when the ordinance was first presented March 24. At that time a motion, made to suspend the rules and pass the ordinance as an emergency measure, to take effect the last Sunday in April was defeated.

The vote was taken after a hearing on the question, in which protests were contributed from several different sources, including a letter aimed against the measure by the Greene County Ministerial Association, and a delegation of farmers representing the Greene County Farm Bureau and the Greene county Grange. Representatives of local organizations which had given record as favoring the project were present at the meeting but took no part in the discussions.

The ordinance was originally worded to take effect the last Sunday in April, under the belief that it would be passed as an emergency measure at the last regular meeting three weeks ago. When the emergency clause was defeated by a vote of three to two, the ordinance continued over for a second reading and according to law cannot take effect until thirty days from the day of passage, which will be May 13, two weeks after the plan takes effect in Dayton.

JUMBO TAKES HIS SATURDAY BATH!

If "cleanliness is next to godliness," Jumbo, who resides at Indorse, India, is rather a religious animal. He takes a bath every Saturday, just the same as many Americans do. This "bath scene" is one of many odd sights witnessed by the Prince of Wales during his recent tour of India.

CONSTANTINE OF GREECE IS ILL: FEAR EXPRESSED

King Weakened By Serious Malady of Several Years' Standing.

HAS LONG CAREER

Recalled to Throne By Plebiscite in December 1920.

Athens, April 14.—King Constantine of Greece is seriously ill. His constitution already had been weakened by a mysterious malady from which he has suffered for years.

Constantine was born August 2, 1868 and married Oct. 27, 1889, to Princess Sophie, a sister of the former German kaiser. When his father was assassinated in Salonika on March 19, 1913, Constantine succeeded to the throne.

He had been in command of one of the Greek armies in the first and second Balkan wars and was popular with the people. On account of his pro-German sympathies in the war, Constantine was compelled by the allies to abdicate, on June 11, 1917.

His son, Alexander, ascended the throne but lived only a short time, falling a victim of a strange malady that resulted from a monkey bite. A plebiscite was held in Greece on Dec. 5, 1920 and the people voted to recall Constantine from his exile in Switzerland. He returned to Athens a fortnight later. When Greece declared war against the Turkish nationalists, Constantine went to Anatolia and helped direct the campaign.

AMERICANS SLAIN BY RUSSIANS WHO STARVE IN STREETS

Natives Eat Horses Which Are Used to Haul Food to Starving People.

Paris, April 14.—A number of American drivers of relief wagons in Russia have been killed in the streets by the famished populace, who seized the horses for food, according to reports received by American relief organizations in Paris from the Ufa, Bashkeer and Tcheliabinsk famine districts.

Two drivers for the American relief administration were killed this week the reports said.

Several other employees of the relief administration, fearing their lives have quit their posts, the reports added. The danger has become so great that it is no longer safe to venture into the streets. People are being killed every day, it was said, and the natives maddened from starvation, strip the clothes from the bodies of their victims.

Reports said the Americans were feeding 150,000 sufferers in the Ufa district, where it is bitterly cold, but that the death rate was continuing unabated.

People were said to be eating bark, roots, hides, dogs, cats and even human flesh.

PROPERTY OWNERS ON CHESTNUT STREET REQUEST PAVING

The city commission Thursday night received a delegation of property owners on Chestnut street south of High street, appealing for street paving on that street.

Chestnut street was one of the streets thrown out when the street paving program was revised by the commission, because the commission did not see where it could obtain the money now to pay the city's share with possibly deficits resulting from property on that thoroughfare that would not stand the assessment.

Seven men authorized to represent property owners along the street appealed to the commissioners to have Chestnut street placed back on the paving program to be undertaken this summer. They said the street is in bad condition, that scraping does not help it, and that any repair work attempted would be expensive without permanent results. Commissioners told the delegation that they were perfectly willing to pave Chestnut street providing the funds can be found available and the city would not be subject to a deficit on poor property along the street.

The commission recessed until next Thursday night, at which time the property owners are asked to return and present additional facts regarding the number of property owners willing to have the street paved. At that meeting the request will be given further consideration.

WAVE OF VIOLENCE HITS BELFAST, TWO ARE SLAIN

STORM HITS XENIA THURSDAY NIGHT

Thursday night's storm certainly splashed a wicked rain drop and cracked a nasty lightning. A bozo out Thursday night without a diving suit on, would have a hard job dodging the dampness. It rained breached leading pints quarts in satisfying quantity and spilled lightning like a moving picture storm only louder. Insurance agents were gleeful Friday morning. The storm offered a good lesson in nature's viciousness without the policy holders cluttering up the office. In other words there was slight damage.

BANDITS MAKE HEAVY HAUL IN NEW YORK RAID

7 Safes Robbed in Royal Insurance Building Friday

ESCAPE IS EFFECTED

Loot Expected to Reach Several Thousands of Dollars.

New York, April 14.—Working in the wake of a girl stenographer who had prepared the way "by getting the lay of the land," and with the aid of a night watchman, a band of expert safe robbers looted the big 16 story Royal Insurance building at William street and Maiden Lane from roof to basement during the night, ripping open seven safes and escaping with booty estimated at nearly $10,000. It had first been reported that only five safes were cracked but this proved an underestimate.

The night watchman, George Bainbridge was arrested on the charge of burglary and is said by the police to have confessed.

New York April 14.—Five office safes in the big Royal Insurance building at William street and Maiden Lane were blown open and robbed early today in one of the biggest safe robbery raids attempted below the financial district "dead-line" in many years. The loot is expected to amount to several thousand dollars.

The bandits beat George Breckenridge, the night watchman, into unconsciousness, bound his hands and tied him up in a mail sack. Early today Breckenridge regained consciousness and wriggled his way to a window. He smashed a pane of glass and this attracted the attention of a passing patrolman.

The looted safes were scattered over five different floors. Police said a preliminary investigation convinced them that the robberies were the work of a well organized band of cracksmen.

Split Between Wilson And Tumulty Grows Wider

Washington, April 14.—Woodrow Wilson's blunt and unqualified repudiation of the so-called "Wilson message" delivered to the national Democratic club banquet in New York Saturday night by his ex-secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, brought open confirmation today of the fact known to inside Democratic circles in the capital for months—that a decided coolness exists between Mr. Wilson and his former aide.

Back of Mr. Wilson's public disavowal that Mr. Tumulty is his spokesman in things political lies a story of two years steadily growing estrangement. This condition would have brought about an open split before Mr. Wilson left the White House, his friends said today, had it not been for the long illness of the former president and the embarrassments that such a course would have entailed during his trying last days in the White House.

The Wilson-Tumulty split, had its inception during Mr. Wilson's long absences abroad during which time Mr. Tumulty literally conducted the executive end of the government according to the inside story of the affair as told by Mr. Wilson's friends today. The message incident in New York Saturday night was described today by Wilson's friends as the "last straw."

Tumulty saw Wilson for a short time on Friday for the first time in weeks, it was said today by those in a position to know. Saturday night a message, ostensibly from Mr. Wilson was delivered to the Democratic banquet. It was taken to New York by Mr. Tumulty. It said:

"Say to the Democrats of New York that I am ready to support any man who stands for the salvation of America and the salvation of America is justice to all classes."

The message itself was innocent enough, but read in conjunction with what apparently was a boom for James M. Cox, it created a sensation and was much resented by other factions of the party not sympathetic with the ex-governor's candidacy. Mr. Wilson promptly took cognizance of the situation by writing a letter to the New York Times, a Democratic newspaper with a request that the letter be published. It said:

"I did not send any message what ever to that dinner, nor authorize any one to convey a message. To this Mr. Tumulty responded today:

"If Mr. Wilson says the message was unauthorized, then I can only say that I deeply regret the misunderstanding that has arisen between us. I certainly would not have given the message if I had not believed it to be authorized."

Mr. Tumulty said today he had nothing to add to his statement. Meanwhile Washington is in the throes of a small sensation.

TROUBLE WHICH WAS EXPECTED BREAKS FORTH

Two Protestants Shot To Death On Streets of City

OTHERS ARE INJURED

Irish Truce Conference Fails to Reach Agreement.

Belfast, April 14.—The expected wave of Easter violence broke upon this city today. Two protestants were shot to death while on their way home from a bakery. A Roman catholic who accompanied them was shot down also. He was removed to the hospital in a dying condition. A bullet has passed through his abdomen. Four special constables were shot while patrolling the streets. Two of them are in critical condition and it is feared they will die.

Reinforcements of soldiers and police are being put on duty in all parts of the city. It is believed that the violence will not reach its crest until Sunday.

Dublin, April 14.—Following the failure of the Irish truce conference to reach an agreement the mutinous faction of the Irish republican army began to reinforce its troops in Dublin today. It is feared that even if Eamonn DeValera does conclude a truce with the Irish provisional government he will be unable to enforce it. This city looks forward to Easter Sunday with dread. The situation is tense.

COACH FRACTURES LEG DURING GAME

Earl Prugh, director of athletics at Antioch college, sustained a broken leg when playing baseball at the school Wednesday evening.

Coach Prugh was playing with the faculty team in the jungle league, a loop of inter class nines, when he received the injury. It was at first thought that he received only a sprain, an examination proving later that the bone was broken.

Coach Prugh's injury is the second resulting from baseball at Antioch this spring. Fred "Sunkist" Mortenson, of California, first baseman on the team, receiving a broken leg in practice, before the season opened.

PHI DELT FOLLIES TO BE ORIGINAL IN PRESENTATION

That the "Phi Delt Follies of 1922," to be given at the Opera House Monday and Tuesday under the auspices of the Phi Delta Kappa Chapter of this city, will be original, goes without saying.

Although there is little theme or plot to the musical extravaganza to be presented by an entirely amateur cast, all of the lines have been written by members of the organization itself, and it is being staged and produced by the chapter unaided.

Robert Hurley, of this city, is directing the piece entirely, nightly rehearsals being held. The offering opens with a prologue in which members of the chapter take part, the scene being laid in the club rooms, the members deciding to give a show and leaving in search of girls. The scene closes with members singing "Bagdad" the Phi Delt Song.

The first part is entirely musical, with the scene laid in a tavern, where Bob Hurley and Miss Louise Whittington presents a sketch, and Mr. Hurley sings "Granny," with a chorus of 36 while Miss Whittington sings "Left Alone Again Blues," in which Elwood Smith and Robert Owens are also introduced. Miss Frances Loyd sings, "It Takes a Good Man To Do That," and following a sketch between Elwood Smith and Bob Owens, the latter sings "Dapper Dan," assisted by Miss Elizabeth Mullen. Forest Hurley sings "Sally," and Miss Betty Lickiter takes the part of "Sally."

The second part offers variety in eight specialty acts and song and dance numbers. Miss Evelyn Bollinger, of Dayton, toe dancer, will give the "Rose Dance," as one of these numbers, and Walker Whittington, of this city, burlesques a nature dance, Shepherd's Orchestra featuring a new pianist, and Marcellus Townsley, formerly with Coburn's Minstrels, in a dancing act, composes another specialty. The Four Hurleys, Forest and Robert, and Misses Cleo and Helen will present a musical novelty. Miss Betty Lickiter and Forest Hurley and John Wood have parts in a bed-room farce "Betty Wake Up." Miss Doris Whittington will sing "Yoo Hoo" with a chorus of 16 "Yoo Hoo" girls as another feature. A cast will burlesque Uncle Tom's Cabin with a sketch "Uncle Tom's Cabin As Is," with Miss Elizabeth Mullen as "Little Eva"; Sewell Nevitt as "Uncle Tom"; Bob Owens, as "Simon Legree"; Donald Shoemaker as "Topsy"; Miss Olive Huston as "Eliza"; John Sutton as "George Harris" and Elwood Smith as the keeper of the bloodhounds, besides a number of "slaves." The final number will be Miss Marjorie Clark in the song "Ka-Lu-A," with a chorus of 24 girls and 12 men belting into the grand finale, which is a medley of all songs used in the show.

The people taking part are: Robert Hurley, Morris Singer, Don Finley, Lawrence Jordan, Clifford Hagler, John Wood, Bernard Donovan, Howard Mathews, George Cost, Elwood Smith, William Finley, Bob Owens, John Sutton, Walker Whittington, Sewell Nevitt, Forest Hurley, Donald Shoemaker, Wilbur Pancake, Marcellus Townsley, Leon C. G. M. Wisecup, 50, arrested Thursday night by Assistant Chief of Police Mangan, was fined $300 and costs by Judge E. D. Smith in police court Friday morning.

In default of the fine and costs Wisecup was taken to the Dayton Work House, Friday morning, by Assistant Chief Mangan, and Ellsworth Weekland, janitor of the city hall, in the new city car.

TAKE GUDE'S PEPTO- MANGAN

It is the Safe and Reliable Tonic Used by Physicians for 30 Years

There are "new styles" even in medicines. A new "fad" comes, is popular for a while, and then fades out of public view. A remedy that has stood the test for thirty years must have remarkable merit and cannot be called a "fad." Such is Gude's Pepto-Mangan, originated by Dr. A. Gude over a quarter century ago, which has helped many thousands of people back to good health by improving the blood. Pepto-Mangan is an iron tonic. It contains iron in a special form easily absorbed by the system. It puts color into the lips and cheeks and improves the entire body by improving and enriching the blood. It is sold by druggists in both liquid and tablet form. If you want to be well and strong and look fine and healthy, take Gude's Pepto-Mangan. adv

ELEANOR GRACE SAYS

It is not raining rain to me
Its raining daffodils
In every dimpling drop I see
Spring flowers, on the hills.

Suppose it does shower! Just stick your umbrella up among the potential daffodils and come on down and finish your Easter shopping. You will soon forget any discomforts outside in the pleasure of looking over the pretty things inside the store.

Doesn't corselette sound much nicer than plain corset? They are just as much nicer as they sound too, for they prevent sagging of the lines of the figure without binding one in steel. Truly the days of "old ironies" are over and corselette comfort has come to stay. Willoways are priced at $2.00.

In our assortment of artistic motto cards you may find just the sentiment you want to send to a friend as an Easter greeting. They are beautifully written and the card decorations are expressive of the spring-time. Priced 15c to 25c.

"Smiles" is the name of a new soap that is just introducing its self to the public by way of its name. If it is able to produce satisfied smiles it is sure to be a winner. It is made of palm and coconut oil which gives it good backing. Try a cake and Smile awhile, 7c cake.

The days of shiny noses have come and it is a rash woman who will venture out without her vanity case. Hudnut's compact powder cases with the cake of exquisitely perfumed Three Flowers powder is one of the nicest I have seen. The attractive monogram case has a fine little mirror on the inside. They are mighty classy looking to cost only $1.00.

Another of the new colors that I have identified is lark. It is just about the same yellowish tan shade that used to be called champagne. Maybe the Volstead act had something to do with the change of name. Anyhow the new shade is a bit softer and daintier than champagne and the "lark" has a pleasing sound.

Any one can make a beautiful camisole in about ten minutes if they use the new camisole ribbon with the tubing woven into it. All you need to do is hem the fronts, sew on the ribbon and run the elastic in the casings. They come in lovely brocade designs in the prettiest of colorings. With the cost of making saved they are very low priced at $2.00 to $2.50 yard.

How Exchange Helps the American Traveller

IN the days before the coming of the Great War the question of the varied moneys in Europe was a matter of much perplexity to the unseasoned traveler who ventured overseas. Yet, his perplexities were as nothing compared with those of the unseasoned traveler of today. In those old days the exchange values of the currencies of the different lands were pretty firmly fixed. The pound sterling of England, Scotland and Ireland stood at $4.86; the French, Swiss and Belgian francs, the Spanish peseta and the Italian lire were approximately twenty cents each; the German mark, twenty-five. Today all is changed. Not only is all changed, but constantly is changing day by day and hour by hour. Within the past few months the pound sterling has been as low as $3.60, and as high as $4.30. The French franc has ranged from just under seven to a little over eight cents. The Belgian franc has done a little and the Swiss very much better. The peseta wavers at from thirteen to fourteen cents, but the lire goes at a bare six. And the German mark has gone lower than 200 to the dollar, and still fluctuates between 100 and 200, while the Austrian kronen have sunk almost to the hopeless state of the Russian ruble. All to the greater perplexity of the traveler, who needs must watch the exchange table in his morning newspaper no matter upon which side of the Atlantic he finds himself.

Dollars at a Premium Abroad
Yet the traveler has his reward in the almost uniform strength of the dollar. Do you know what the French franc at eight cents means to you? I have already shown it to you in first-class railway fares at a little over two cents a mile. You can ride all the way across Paris in a taxicab—a distance of four miles or more—for forty or fifty of our Yankee pennies, and across Berlin for about 12 cents.

The room which two of us held last summer in one of the newest and loveliest hotels of the French capital—a really superb room, with its crackling open fire, its private balcony, looking down upon the boulevard, its twin beds, its telephone and its private bath—cost us but $25.25 a day, for two.

Its meals were in consonance. The early breakfast—the coffee and rolls and a bit of fruit—was as nothing, eighteen or twenty cents; the elaborate, real dejeuner, or luncheon, fifteen francs (at the present exchange rate of eight cents, but $1.20) and the seven-course dinner, exquisitely cooked and served, seventeen francs ($1.86).

NOTRE DAME! You won't see these unless you look for them. Victor Hugo's Hunchback crawled around these gargoyles.

You could go to less magnificent places and do even better. Three of us dined in a lovely little restaurant in the Latin Quarter, sumptuously on soup and fish and duck and strawberries, a goodly variety of vegetables to boot, and with a quart of good champagne thrown in, and our total bill was under $6.50. Champagne at the eight-cent franc costs only from $2.25 to $2.50 a quart.

A shave that in Paris cost me one franc, in Cologne cost one mark. The barber bowed to the ground when I gave him a tip of two marks. The entire transaction had cost me less than two cents—and I had had a peach of a shave!

As one goes further East the prices drop still more rapidly. In Vienna one gets an excellent dinner, with a simple wine, for seventy-five cents; in Buda-Pesth it hardly exceeds sixty cents; while in either Belgrade or Bucharest almost precisely the same meal will not cost more than twenty-five or thirty cents, American money.

Finances for the Adventure
With a real understanding of the increased value of his dollar, the traveler can begin to make fairly definite plans for his journey overseas. I always begin, myself, by first asking 100 francs, but I cut them in half, and they hardly no grudge against me. The tavern keeper overseas, actually seem to prefer a sharp bargainer!

In the great new hotels of Madrid and Barcelona I paid for similar accommodations somewhat higher rates; forty pesetas ($7.20) a day. But, I could have found excellent taverns in both cities at one-third of that cost. It was not necessary that I should have had de luxe accommodations. There were plenty of others available.

Cheap Travel in Germany
For an American traveling in Germany is actually cheaper than staying at home. Any American with a small income can live handsomely in Germany on the same amount that would barely carry him through at home. If he has leisure, a taste for music and a liking for German cookery, he can pass his time agreeably in any German city.

Germany is ready and willing to take good care of travelers, even on the basis of the depreciated mark. Her hotels are well filled with tourists who are taking full advantage of the extraordinary values offered them through low exchange.

So far as the casual observer can see, German hotels are just as good as they have ever been, and just as well managed. The food is good and ample. The beds are clean, and the service civil and willing. Everything is done for the traveler with a kind of determined thoroughness.

A full course dinner with a bottle of good wine in most first-class restaurants costs about 50 cents. A business man's lunch, substantial and well cooked, costs about 13 cents. Beer is abundant and good, a large glass costing two cents. Fine wines cost about 12 cents a bottle.

Railroad travel, like everything else, is very cheap. The first-class fare from Cologne to Hamburg is 276 marks, costing a recent American traveler about $1.45—and the distance is more than 250 miles. On this journey the guard will telegraph ahead for dinner, which, at a junction point, is put into your lap on a silver plate—a well cooked chop, fried potatoes, bread and cheese, and a tart. The cost of such a meal, with a large bottle of excellent Rhine wine is considerably less than 50 cents to an American, while the guard apologizes for being obliged to collect four marks extra—a matter of two cents or so—for the telegram ordering the dinner.

What else besides good food and food, beer and wine, has Germany to offer the traveler? She has two of her traditional standbys—music and art, and both at cut rates, at present.

In Germany today good music costs so little that it is almost a misdeed not to attend the opera. Even a commercial city like Hamburg has a first-class opera company, presenting a bill of classic operas which is changed every day. The standard of the performances is quite up to that of German opera in New York, in at least one respect, which was presented at times past, which was presented at times past, which was presented at times past.

considerably less than 50 cents to an American, while the guard apologizes for being obliged to collect four marks extra—a matter of two cents or so—for the telegram ordering the dinner.

People Not Unfriendly
It may be asked—What is the attitude of the German public toward strangers? The stranger excites no comment, so long as he goes about his business. In the shops he is greeted courteously. The war and its anomalies are never mentioned before.

In cafes and other public places there are always crowds, eating, drinking, laughing and apparently enjoying life, among whom the tourist may go freely, without fear of molestation.

What else besides good food and food, beer and wine, has Germany to offer the traveler? She has two of her traditional standbys—music and art, and both at cut rates, at present.

The standard of the performances is quite up to that of German opera in New York, in at least one respect, which was presented at times past, which was presented at times past.

A recent night at the opera in Hamburg, for two American visitors, cost as follows: Special messenger to the State Theatre to buy tickets, 6 cents; two seats in a parquet box, 50 cents; taxi cab for two from hotel to the State Theatre, one mile (in a rainstorm), 12 cents; hearty supper for two after the performance, with two large mugs of real Pilsener beer, 40 cents; cab home, 18 cents; fees to various attendants, waiters, doormen, etc., 6 cents; total $1.62.

In German restaurants you hear orchestras that play superbly, and would not defile their art with jazz. The loveliest strains of famous composers are none too good for these players. In the hotels are orchestras that would make creditable concert organizations in America.

Contemporary art in Germany shows no change from pre-war standards. Anyone can buy exquisite landscapes, figure studies, still life pictures, historical compositions; anything that is wanted in any German art dealer's gallery today, for prices at exchange rate that ordinarily would scarcely pay for the heavy frames in which the paintings are set.

MORRIS SHARP TO SEEK NOMINATION FOR SHERIFF SOON

Morris Sharp, of Jamestown, candidate for the Republican nomination for Sheriff of Greene County, is the first candidate to announce his intentions.

The candidacy of the Jamestown man was officially announced over his signature in the Greene County Journal this week without other commentary. Sharp has not filed his intentions with Paul H. Cresswell, clerk of the board of elections however, it was learned Friday.

Last filing day for candidates is June 8, which is 60 days before the second Tuesday, when the primary will be held, this year falling on August 8. Although numerous county offices are to be filled, no candidates have declared themselves officially by filing their papers yet.

Morris Sharp, who announces, his candidacy for Sheriff, is an ex-service man, and a member of the American Legion. Although no other candidates have officially announced it is said that Ed Lighthiser, who has been a candidate for Sheriff before, will again run, besides George Birch, present deputy, who will seek to follow the present sheriff into office. Although Frank Jackson, former Sheriff has not announced his candidacy for County Treasurer, his friend, say he will run for that office.

HALL DESTROYED BY FIRE THURSDAY PROPERTY OF WOMAN

The Art Hall at the Fair Grounds which was destroyed by fire early Thursday morning did not belong to the Greene County Agriculture Society but is the property of Mrs. Netchen Moncini, Abuzzini Italy, who owns the ground, it was announced Friday, following an investigation by the county commissioners.

Members of the fair board first believed that the building was the property of that organization, the county commissioners announcing Friday that the Art Hall and several other buildings are the property of Mrs. Moncini. Whether the loss is covered by insurance is not known.

A meeting of the Agriculture Society will be held Saturday at the call of Milo Anderson, president, when plans regarding a new building will be considered. The fair-ground is located on ground under a 20-year lease that runs to 1928. Whether the board will replace the building destroyed or whether Mrs. Moncini will rebuild, will have to be decided before plans go forward for a new building.

SERVICES IN LOCAL CHURCHES

Easter

SUNDAY TO BE OBSERVED

With all nature bursting into bloom Easter day this year will be particularly radiant and beautiful, whether the skies are clouded or fair. Fruit trees laden with bloom, and early shrubs, and flowers adding their colorful touches to the soft green of grass and budding foliage will make a perfect setting for the celebration of the great festival day of the church.

In many of the local churches there will be special services in honor of the day. Flowers will decorate the altars and special music will be features of practically all of the services. The old, but ever new, story of the resurrection will be re-told in sermons and songs and gladness, which is the great message of the day, will be emphasized in every part of the services.

Early in the morning the little folks will no doubt observe the time honored custom of the Easter egg hunt and will go out with dainty little baskets to look for the bright colored eggs which Br'er Rabbit is supposed to have left hidden among the flowers and in odd corners. As the egg, containing the elements of life is supposed to be an emblem of immortality, the custom has in it an element of the significance of the day.

The new Easter hat, and the other features of the Easter day style parade, promise to be much in evidence this year unless Jupiter Pluvius should get busy with his sprinkling cart, at an inopportune hour.

Present indications are that the day will be celebrated in this city in all the customary ways.

In many of the churches the day will open with sunrise services. At St. Brigid's there will be the beautiful early mass. At the First M. E. Church the congregation will join in a sunrise prayer service.

START MOVEMENT TO REVIVE LOCAL INTEREST IN C. OF C.

A movement started to revive interest in the Xenia Chamber of Commerce, has crystallized into plans for a meeting of members and those interested in its continuance, to be held at the Chamber of Commerce next Thursday evening.

Approval of H. A. Higgins, president of the club to any movement growing out of an effort to keep the organization alive was given Wednesday night and Miss Janice Owens former office manager of the organization, is starting plans for the proposed Thursday night meeting.

The meeting grew out of agitation for a revival of the organization, started on the unofficial but verified announcement of the board of directors to close up the commercial association Saturday.

Members interested in the welfare of the Chamber of Commerce and non-members who believe that the city should have a civil and commercial body operated on some plan and under some similar name, are backing the movement for its revival. Members of the organization and of its board of directors, who have been interviewed express themselves as in step with any movement that means keeping the organization alive. What steps will be taken in this direction and what plans will be adopted for the continued life of the Chamber of Commerce, will be threshed out at the general meeting next Thursday, which a number of prominent business and professional men have already signified their intention of attending.

The organization of a committee to call on people interested in the Chamber of Commerce and personally solicit their attendance at the meeting is now being formed, and will be announced later. The possible creating of a federated club organization with the Chamber of Commerce as the hub, and the different civic societies representing the spokes with a common headquarters at the present Chamber of Commerce quarters, is also being agitated by some enthusiasts and this plan will probably be presented at the Thursday night meeting. A speaking program will start off the discussion.

ROTARY CLUB AND RED CROSS WILL CONDUCT CLINICS

All crippled children in Greene county will have the opportunity of being examined at a county-wide clinic made possible by the Rotary Club and the Red Cross to be held in the Red Cross rooms Monday morning at 9 o'clock, April 17.

Dr. R. K. Finley has secured the services of Dr. James Walker, of Dayton, for this clinic. Drs. R. K. Finley, Dr. B. R. McClellan and R. L. Gowdy form the committee on crippled children from the Rotary Club.

Dr. Walker, formerly of the Mayo clinic, was in orthopedic service in the army and later served about a year with the Red Cross in Montenegro and in Poland. He is now located in the Mutual Fidelity Building in Dayton. He is in charge of the crippled clinic conducted at the Barney Community Welfare House in Dayton.

The clinic will be held in the Red Cross rooms, and Miss Evers, the Red Cross nurse, will assist. Miss Evers has helped make the county survey of crippled children and has taken children to Barney Clinic in Dayton.

The public is asked to report any cases of crippled children to the Red Cross office in order that all may be reached. The clinic will be free to the public.

Study the people you see on the streets every day. One-third of them are under weight and under nourished.

Tired, worn out, inefficient: —and still in their youth!

"One hundred million people," says Herman N. Bundesen, M. D., Health Commissioner of Chicago, "are ready for health truths; ten million of these are sick and paying in many ways for their ignorance of health fundamentals."

Worn out, "all in"—at 3 P.M.!
Yeast Foam Tablets are guaranteed to be extremely rich in the energizing element which so many foods lack.

Ten million sick people!

How many other millions there are—people we meet and see everywhere—who are not actually ill, but who nevertheless lack vitality and energy; people having little or no endurance.

What is the real cause of failing strength and endurance; premature old age?

Medical scientists proclaim new truths

Leading physicians and physiological experts now know that many of these so-called minor ailments are directly and entirely due to foods deficient in certain vital elements!

Scientific investigation discloses two additional facts of vast importance to thinking men and women everywhere: [1] deficient food is an indirect cause of all disease; [2] food rich in the necessary elements—food, not drugs—is destined to be the greatest medicine of the future.

What makes many foods deficient?

The element in which many foods are deficient is vitamin, the newly recognized factor which is indispensable to health.

Deficiency of vitamin is caused by various food processes such as milling of grain; refining of sugar; heating to high temperatures; discarding of water in which foods are boiled, and many other prevailing methods of food "preparation."

So, no matter what kind of food you eat or how much you eat, without vitamin you cannot be strong and energetic.

Yeast Foam Tablets correct a widespread condition

In Yeast Foam Tablets—a pure food made entirely from whole yeast cells—vitamin B is found in abundance. Add this simple food accessory to your regular diet—note its remarkable corrective and tonic effect.

A remarkable, natural tonic

Yeast Foam Tablets are extremely beneficial in such disorders as loss of appetite; indigestion; lack of physical strength and energy; anaemia; pimples, boils; nervous troubles and forms of ill health known as "run down" conditions.

Be sure to ask for this pure yeast by its full name. It is sold by all druggists.

LIGHTNING BOLT STRIKES HOME ON CHESTNUT STREET

A bolt of lightning, during the heavy storm that struck the city about midnight, Thursday, tore a large portion of the roof from the residence of Mrs. Hortense Hurley, 239 South Chestnut Street, tearing the plastering from the wall of one of the rooms in its course.

PARIS.
So many new things are happening to the hitherto sober blue utility dress, that "blue serge" is no longer as it used to be a synonym for simplicity and service. Moreover, serge itself is hardly used as extensively as in previous seasons. In addition to rep and kasha cloth, which I mentioned last week, there is a crepe material, something like wool marocain, for which great popularity is predicted. But what interested me a lot in the Paris exhibitions were the unusual combinations employed with these serviceable materials.

At the house of Madeleine et Madeleine, for example, there is a stunning dark kasha frock trimmed with glittering gilt ribbon around the girdle, a gilt rose perched saucily on one shoulder. At Jenny's nearly all the dark blue tailored dresses were combined with lace or George crepe or white eyelid embroidery.

A charming example of the latter is shown in the sketch. Practical too, since the sleeves and collar may be detachable. The graceful line of the collar is emphasized by a bright red motif, and the narrow patent leather belt is also trimmed with red floral patterns punched out of leather. Pencil-like in its narrow straightness, the silhouette is softened by the simple tunic in front.

THE USEFUL CREAM JAR

Cold cream should be used but not over-used. The woman with an oily skin needs astringents rather than cold cream, but if she has blackheads, which are common to greasy skins, she should use a cleansing cream before she washes her face, but then get it all out with soap and water.

Few women seem to know the very best way of using cold cream.

It is primarily a cleansing agent, the inexpensive creams on the market have only one virtue, that of being cleansing. Creams to eliminate wrinkles or nourish the skins are made of different and expensive ingredients.

A cream rubbed into the skin and allowed to stay on must attract dirt and dust, it cannot do otherwise. If it is covered with powder it forms a thick, sticky mass which clogs the pores and, in my opinion, does much more harm than good. Therefore, the best way to use cream is to rub it over the face, work it thoroughly into the skin with the finger tips and then wash it all out with soap and warm water. This will leave the skin cleaner than ordinary soap and water could make it, soft and fine looking and not dry as it might be from soap and water washing.

This treatment, like every other variety of face washing, should be followed by a cold astringent, rinse to close the pores and further stimulate the skin.

If the skin is chapped, dry or wrinkled, a special cream made with vegetable oils should be used. This sort is most effective if used after the skin has been washed, preferably at bed time.

Sunshine—As you are only ten pounds overweight you can lose this easily through your exercises in the gymnasium of the college you are attending. This will be preferable to attempting a diet while at school, which would be very inconvenient.

Inquisitive—Agar agar is excellent for keeping the digestive tract clear. It is a Japanese seaweed sold in bulk form at all drug stores and is taken by sprinkling a table spoonful of it over the breakfast food. It is easily taken as it has no flavor. The action of the agar is to become a gelatinous mass that passes through the system clearing it but it has no purgative tendency. If the agar is not convenient to obtain a fair substitute is bran. This can be taken in the same way or eaten with cream as you would a breakfast food.

Tomorrow—Imperfections Of Historic Beauties.

DECORATING YOUR OWN VASES

With the coming of Spring and Summer the housewife who likes her home to be bright and cheerful looking, naturally turns her thoughts to her supply of vases which hold Nature's gay blooms. Some of her supply, perhaps, was broken last year; some of them may have proved inadequate in size and coloring for the flowers oftenest available for home decoration; or again, some of them may not have looked artistic enough to be placed in the living or dining room.

I believe this last drawback will prove the most serious in the average home. For, a really tasteful vase is usually such an expensive ornament, that few of us possess more than one of this variety—if, indeed we possess even that one!

So today I am going to tell you of a way that we can all have artistic vases with a very slight outlay of expense. And that way is—to make them ourselves! This sounds like magic, yet a clever woman I know has done it most successfully as follows:

Buy a few tubes of artists' oil paint and a few small stiff-bristled brushes to apply it with. Good colors to use at first are gray, old-rose and delft blue.

Next, collect all the cheap glass vases you have on hand, or the china vases which you have found unsatisfactory in color, and experiment on the one you care for the least; squeeze a little of the old-rose paint onto a palette (or any smooth surfaced board) dip the brush in this, and paint the entire glass or china vase. This old-rose coat of paint must dry thoroughly before you apply paint of contrasting color. When it is quite dry, squeeze some of the gray oil paint from its tube and simply "drag" this gray paint onto the vase, over the old-rose shade. The gray should be "dragged on" in streaks, not at all evenly—in fact, the more uneven the streaks, the better. Do not attempt to cover all the pink paint. In some places, apply the gray thinly so that the pink shows through it slightly; in other places apply it thickly.

The blue paint, used exactly as the old-rose, with gray put on over it in streaks as described above, gives equally beautiful results. Or one may use yellow for a foundation paint on the vase and then "drag on" brown paint over the yellow. Select your own color combinations. It is a good plan to have a piece of flat window glass at hand to try out the various color combinations on before putting them on a vase. (Or an old piece of broken china may be used for this testing work.)

And the best part of all is that one does not have to be naturally artistic—one needs not the slightest talent for drawing—in order to make one of these artistic vases! The friend to whom I referred above, who makes these pretty vases so successfully, knows not the slightest thing about picture painting—indeed, has never had a lesson in drawing or painting. She is an invalid who spends her life in a wheel chair and who keeps herself happy with similar delightful occupations. Some day I am going to tell you about other things she makes, in the hope that other invalids, as well as well people, may also enjoy making them.

Tomorrow—Some Useful Recipes.

Daphne and Henrietta Finch-Hatton are considered two of the most beautiful children in England and are granddaughters of Mrs. Anthony Drexel, prominent Philadelphia society matron.

WIDOW TAKES LIFE; WAS UNBALANCED

New York, April 14.—Mrs. Anna Glickstein, widow of Dr. Abraham Glickstein, jumped or fell from a window in the apartment of her mother, Mrs. Lena Tubansky, at 511 New Jersey Avenue, Brooklyn early today and was killed.

Behind this bald police slip today lies a peculiar tragedy.

Reading of the acquittal of Olivia Stone and stories summarizing similar acquittals printed in connection with the Stone case, Mrs. Glickstein according to her daughter Frances, became convinced that the unwritten law would convict Mrs. Lillian Raisen who killed Dr. Glickstein. The daughter expressed the conviction that her mother had become temporarily unbalanced by brooding over her belief that the woman who robbed her of her husband would not pay under the law.

SLEEP OF 4 YEARS ENDS IN DEATH

Fort Smith, Ark. April 14.—The long sleep of "Jim" Eslinger, 62, was at an end today. Death came to the "Rip Van Winkle of the Ozarks," last night a peaceful passing away after Eslinger had slept continually except for a few waking hours for the past four years.

Eslinger was brought to a hospital here in 1918 suffering with pellagra. He slept until last July, when he roused into consciousness and said: "The Lord have mercy on my soul. I have been across the river Jordan with the angels."

For nearly a month he was awake. Then he lapsed back into slumber and never awoke again.

DELCO MEN ATTEND DAYTON MEETING

Dayton, Ohio, April 14.—Nearly one thousand Delco Light company distributors will close their annual convention tonight after a big booster meeting, declared to have been the best one ever held.

Optimism pervaded every session and the salesmen anticipate the biggest years business they have ever done. The convention closes tonight in a banquet at the Miami hotel.

RED CROSS WORK TAUGHT HER IDEA OF STARTING A FACTORY.

ARREST ESCAPED CONVICTS FRIDAY

Cleveland, April 14.—Four men, believed to be escaped convicts were captured by police this morning in a raid on a rooming house on Prospect Avenue. One of the prisoners was wounded in a gun battle which preceded the capture. One of those taken is believed to be wanted by authorities of the Michigan state prison.

JEWELRY STOLEN VALUED AT $50,000

Cleveland, April 14.—Diamonds and other jewels valued at more than $50,000 were secured by three bandits just before noon today in a daring daylight hold up of the store of Max Kurjan in the Hanna building on Euclid Avenue. Only one of the robbers was masked.

After looting the store of gems, the bandits made a getaway and escaped in the crowd of downtown shoppers.

FESS CONFIDENT OF VICTORY IN RACE

Washington, April 14.—The flat prediction that he would win the Republican senatorial nomination in Ohio this year "by two to one over any Republican who runs," was made today by Rep. Simon D. Fess.

"I will carry," Fess said, "as it now appears, all counties outside the counties which have large cities, and even in those I will get my share of votes."

TO ATTEND SERVICES

Several Xenia people will go to Dayton Sunday evening where they will attend Easter song services in the Dayton Churches. The Grace M. E. Church choir will present "The Seven Last Words," and the choir of West Minister Church will give Gernoda "Redemption," ref. and Mrs. Aultman, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wolf and Miss Stella Bishop will attend the concert at Grace M. E. Church.

Insist upon Kellogg's the original Corn Flakes —they're wonderful

"Say, Maw, I hope we don't have any bits while we're eating Kellogg's Corn Flakes, 'cause I like Kellogg's so much that the fish will get away!"

Kellogg flavor and Kellogg crispness are so different that there can be no comparison between Kellogg's Corn Flakes and imitations.

Little folks quickly say, "Get Kellogg's, Mother—please," because Kellogg's are never tough or leathery or hard to eat! Kellogg's are always so delicious that big bowls quickly disappear and eager little mouths appeal for more! And big folks appreciate the superiority of Kellogg's because their flavor is so inviting. Kellogg's are wonderful!

SAVE Natural Gas

When the Gas Fails

Sometime in the not far distant future, Ohio people will face the failure of the natural gas supply.

Then they will spend millions. New chimneys will have to be built; new heating devices bought; new lighting arrangements made and new ranges for cooking.

Dirt and discomfort will succeed cleanliness and convenience; expenses will increase and there will be more work.

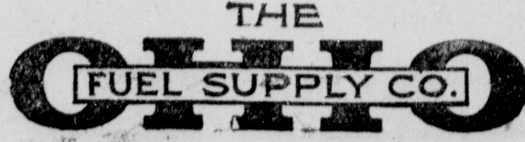

Some of the larger communities may manufacture gas. Then they will pay five or six times as much for the same heating units.

Delay That Time by Saving Gas

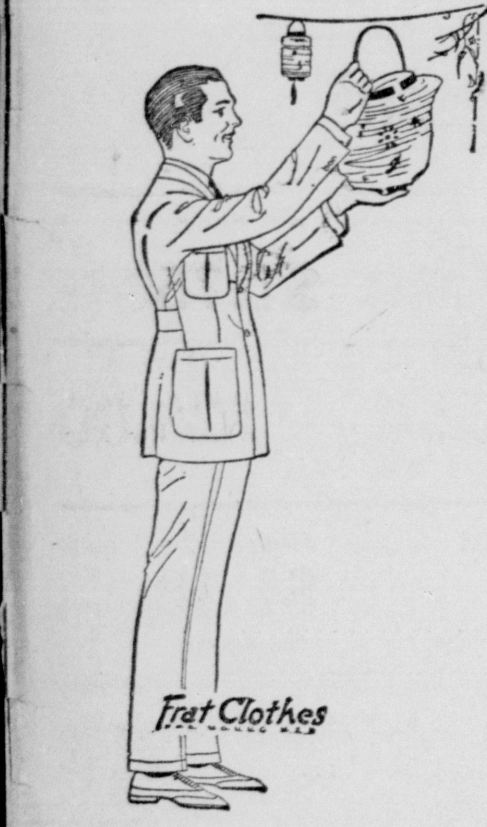

If every user of natural gas in Ohio will do all he can to save gas, the supply will last twice as long.

Yes, the government experts declare more than fifty percent is wasted now.

Help us to prolong your supply and give you good service by preventing waste of every kind. Natural gas is too valuable in our homes to discontinue its use a day before we must.

LAST OF LENTON SERMONS HELD AT CATHOLIC CHURCH

"We adore Thee O Christ, and we bless Thee, because by Thy holy cross, thou hast redeemed the world."

With these words taken from the ritual of the Way of the Cross, of the Roman Catholic Church as his text, the Rev. Father Lawrence C. Johansen, O. P., of Columbus delivered the last of the series of weekly Lenten sermons, he has been giving at St. Brigid's Church, Thursday night.

In his Holy Thursday sermon, the Rev. Father Johansen, spoke of the institution of the Blessed Sacrament and reviewed the Passion and death of Christ, from the Last Supper, the night before his death, when He instituted the Sacrament of the bread and wine until His death on the cross at Calvary. Good Friday afternoon at three o'clock, depicting vividly the incidents that preceded Christ's betrayal, the sufferings He was made to undergo before His condemnation, and finally the death upon the Cross after hanging three hours on the gibbet in agony.

A High Mass Thursday morning, with the pastor, the Rev. Father Albert A. Burke, as celebrant, began the three day's special devotions that mark the end of Lent. The services Thursday commemorated the institution of the Blessed Sacrament, a procession of the Blessed Sacrament, following the Mass Thursday, with school children taking part in the ceremony, and with adoration of the Blessed Sacrament all day. Prayers in honor of the Blessed Sacrament, with the sermon by the Rev. Father Johansen, marked the Thursday night ceremonies.

Friday morning, Good Friday, on the Church calendar, the Mass of the Presanctified was celebrated with veneration of the cross throughout the day. The ceremonies Friday evening will consist of the Stations of the Cross and veneration. The ceremonies Saturday morning known as Holy Saturday, in the Church will begin at 6:30 o'clock in the morning, with the blessing of the New Fire, the baptismal water and font, the Easter-water and the Paschal Candle followed by the chanting of the Litany and High Mass. Lent comes to an end officially at noon Saturday, when the Lenten restrictions that bind members of the Church are lifted.

Masses at St. Brigid's Church Sunday, will be at the usual hours, 7:00, 8:30 and 10 o'clock in the morning. The children's choir will sing, a special Mass having been rehearsed. Although in some cities the custom is followed of closing business houses from 12 to three o'clock, on Good Friday, in memory of the agony of Christ on the cross, this plan is not being followed out here, the observance of the day being confined to those denominations that lay particular stress on the Lenten and Passion period.

The Rev. Father Burke, in a letter sent to parishioners this week extended to members of his flock, the most cordial Easter greetings.

The capacity of the present Miller's Ford plant will be doubled, it is said by officials, and $2,250,000 will be spent on the extension. An application of the company to issue $500,000 cumulative preferred stock, still is pending before the commission.

QUARANTINE STILL ON AT CHILDREN'S HOME; BOYS SICK

With two patients still in bed with scarlet fever, and two others convalescing, officials of the Greene County Children's Home do not know when the quarantine that has been existing at the institution for several weeks because of scarlet fever, will be lifted.

The cases, which were confined among the boys at the Home, were all light ones according to Miss Mamie Bankard, matron of the institution. Only the boys of the Home were affected by the quarantine order, as the disease never spread to the girls' side of the institution.

Seven cases in all were in evidence at the home according to Miss Bankard, but most of them were really sick only a few days. There are 22 boys at the Home now, who are affected by the quarantine.

MOVIE STAR AND GIRL WHO ACCUSES HIM

Herbert Rawlinson, famed film star, is being sued for $200,000 by Mrs. Ethel Clark, of New York, who has charged in court papers that the actor wronged her daughter, Dorothy Clark. That Rawlinson purported to love the girl is evidenced, Mrs. Clark asserts, by endearing inscriptions on photographs of himself given to Miss Clark. The case will be tried in a Los Angeles court. Rawlinson emphatically denies the allegations of his accuser.

League, will be given. Special piano solos, with a social time and refreshments will complete the meeting.

FOUR DANCING FEET

BY JANE PHELPS

Ten days, and no letter.

Gertie never had withheld her confidence from her mother, nor in fact did much transpire that was not discussed by the entire family. For the first few days Gertie made no secret that she expected a letter, and Jennie's first question would be, "Tom written yet?"

Lilly too had been curious. Gertie had told her Tom had promised to write her; asked her to answer. "Ain't heard from him, I know you wouldn't. Promises is easy, especially when you're going away." This worldly-wise girl remarked, then, "Don't you fret none Gert. There is as good fish in the sea as is! You'll catch one too, with your looks. If you'd have a little more style."

She—as she considered it, was Lilly's first thought.

"Might as well be dead if you can't be stylish, put up a front," she often said, and spent her money for cheap imitation things without regard to their wearing properties; or their appropriateness.

Mrs. Cummings had not allowed Gertie to waste her money, even though she earned it, and was so generous with them all. And since Tom had told her he liked her better for not wearing thin silk stockings on the street, she had not questioned her mother's wisdom—as occasionally she had done before when she wanted to buy some pretty perishable thing.

"I don't believe Tom is that kind. Perhaps he is sick or something," Gertie answered Lilly's remarks about good fish being left in the pond.

"I guess I wouldn't be thinkin' about him him so much," Lilly answered, not without sympathy, "you look kinda peaked the last few days."

Mrs. Cummings had also noticed and spoken of Gertie's worrying.

"You mustn't, dear. He was nice when he was here, and if he comes again maybe he'll be nice again. But men are careless about things like writing. She, like Lilly, thought, then, with men, of Tom's position in life "out of sight was out of mind," yet Gertie looked so wistful.

"Did he ever make love to you, Gertie?" her mother asked.

"No, not what you'd call—love. He seemed to like me a lot though or he wouldn't have cared whether I knew anything or not; brought me all them books if he hadn't—like me."

"Well don't fret, dearie. Just try and forget him."

"Forget him! Why, mother!" No one understands! She loved to remember everything he said, all he did! It was just the one thing in her life she wanted to remember—always.

"All right, ma!" After this talk Gertie watched covertly for the postman, instead of openly. She never mentioned Tom's name, and for a day or two did not open the books he had given her. Then she went at her studies again in a more frenzied manner than at first. She grew a little thin, had less color than before, but aside from that she went on as usual.

"I'll learn what he told me too anyway!" she said to herself, brushing away the tears. "I'll be educated! Then if he ever does come back he won't be ashamed of me."

Such up-hill work.

Her mother insisted she should sleep mornings. There were many things to take up the afternoon, mending, errands, practice—Gertie never neglected her hour's practice, always with the idea that sometime perhaps, in the dim future she might dance in a better place. An hour afterward was about all she could take for her studies. It was slow work, because so much was hard to understand. She learned easily in a parrot-like way, but that didn't satisfy her. She wanted to know what things, words, expressions meant. Her dictionary soon showed signs of wear, she consulted it so constantly. But while she studied with determination, she felt no joy in her work. The happy part had belonged to thoughts of Tom. And he hadn't written.
